Director's Choice

October 13 – 15

Knight Theater

For Director's Choice, Artistic Director Jean-Pierre Bonnefoux chose three outstanding ballets. A dynamic, physical work by legendary choreographer William Forsythe, In the Middle, Somewhat Elevated is a contemporary masterpiece. The New York Times proclaimed, "In the Middle, Somewhat Elevated is Mr. Forsythe at his fierce finest." The excitement of Director's Choice continues with Bolero. Set on a hot summer afternoon in a south of the border village, the steamy and sensuous ballet is sure to heat up the theater. Rounding out the performance is a world premiere by choreographer Sasha Janes.

Innovative Works

November 3-5, 10-12 & 17-19

701 North Tryon

New works in a new venue! Experience NC Dance Theatre in an all new way at the 200-seat, 701 N. Tryon Theater at the Company's home in Uptown Charlotte. This intimate theater is the perfect venue for Innovative Works, giving audience members an up close and personal view of the dancers' athleticism and passion. Hear the dancers breathe and feel the intensity of their movements as they perform new ballets by choreographers Mark Diamond, David Ingram and Sasha Janes, and an existing work by Dwight Rhoden. This performance not only includes contemporary dance, but audience members will also be treated to culinary delights throughout the evening, concluding with dessert with the dancers.

Nutcracker

December 9-11 & 16-18

Belk Theater

Nutcracker, Charlotte's favorite holiday tradition, celebrates the sights and sounds of the holiday season. Bring your family and friends along for this holiday voyage featuring choreography by Jean-Pierre Bonnefoux, live music from the Charlotte Symphony and over 100 performers. Be there as the Nutcracker Prince triumphs over the evil Mouse King and as the Sugar Plum Fairy entertains Clara, her Nutcracker Prince, and the audience with dazzling dancing sweets.

Sleeping Beauty

March 8-11 & 15-18

Knight Theater

Sleeping Beauty's timeless tale of a beautiful princess, a dashing prince and the triumph of good over evil with a single kiss has delighted audiences for years. NC Dance Theatre is thrilled to perform Sleeping Beauty for the first time, an all new production with choreography by Jean-Pierre Bonnefoux, gorgeous costumes, magical sets and Tchaikovsky's unforgettable score. Take your family on a whimsical journey to an enchanted kingdom, as this beloved childhood story is sure to leave audiences of all ages feeling happily ever after.

Dangerous Liaisons

April 26-28

Knight Theater

Dangerous Liaisons weaves audiences on a journey through a twisted tale of passion, betrayal and revenge. This provocative love story unfolds through the inventive choreography of Sasha Janes, original music by Ben Sollee and a modern day set. Audiences will be on the edge of their seats throughout the thrilling ballet, which culminates in an intense duel to the death. The evening of Dangerous Liaisons kicks off with Dwight Rhoden's Artifice. The intriguing ballet delves into the imagination of a circus ringmaster, as he creates his own personal symphony using a colorful cast of characters and music by the Kronos Quartet.
